

DETECTION = PROTECTION

ZOMBIE IDENTIFICATION FIELD MANUAL

Are they drooling a thick, gelatinous goo with no apparent concern about getting it on their shirt?

Do not offer them
a moist towelette.
This is probably a zombie.

Are they leaving a seemingly endless and chunky blood trail?

If you find a blood trail, do not follow it. Often, it will lead you to a zombie and rarely, candy.

Is their stare blank and distant like a beauty pageant contestant?

Zombies and pageant contestants are hard to tell apart.
Avoid both to be safe.

Are they carrying a torn-off limb in a manner that could only be described as casual?

Before they rip your limbs off like it ain't no thang, run like hell.

Do they continue moaning even when it's making those around them obviously uncomfortable?

Zombies ignore numerous social mores, like not eating others.

Are they trying to eat you?

Definitely a zombie.
Hit with hammer.
Repeat as necessary.

GEORGE A. ROMERO'S
SURVIVAL OF THE DEAD

PREMIERES APRIL 30TH ON VOD, Xbox Live, PlayStation & Amazon

IN THEATRES MAY 28TH

Become a Facebook Fan for exclusive updates at facebook.com/survivalofthedeadmovie

